

United States Court of Appeals,
Eighth Circuit.

FEDERAL RESERVE BANK OF ST. LOUIS, a United States Corporation, Appellant, v.

METROCENTRE IMPROVEMENT DISTRICT # 1, CITY OF LITTLE ROCK, ARKANSAS, Appellee.

No. 80-1649.

Submitted April 15, 1981.
Decided Aug. 11, 1981.

Federal Reserve Bank filed suit seeking declaratory judgment that it was exempt from special assessment by city central business improvement district, order directing that district remove any existing assessments against bank, and injunction restraining district from making further assessments and from instituting any legal action to recover past assessments. The United States District Court for the Eastern District of Arkansas, 492 F.Supp. 353, <http://web2.westlaw.com/find/default.wl?spa=003288636-4000&rs=WLW7.04&serialnum=1980119319&fn=_top&sv=Split&tc=1&findtype=Y&tf=1&db=345&vr=2.0&rp=%2ffind%2fdefault.wl&mt=FederalGovernment> Elsijane Trimble Roy, J., entered judgment against bank, and bank appealed. The Court of Appeals, Stephenson, Circuit Judge, held that: (1) Federal Reserve Bank was federal instrumentality and therefore enjoyed immunity from state and local taxation unless waived by Congress, and (2) immunity from real estate taxes under statute did not extend to special assessments.
Reversed and remanded.

Congressional waiver of immunity was required for city central business improvement district to impose special assessment against Federal Reserve Bank, and thus, since statutory exemption did not extend to special assessments, failure of bank to timely contest assessments could not render assessment valid. (Cite as: 657 F.2d 183, *185) (District) which is a Central Business Improvement District for downtown Little Rock. The Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis (Bank) holds title to lots 1-10 of Block 94 in Little Rock, all of which are located within the Improvement District. The District assessed the Bank an annual fee of $12,854 payable from 1977 through 2002 inclusive. The Bank refused to pay the special assessment and filed suit seeking (1) a declaratory judgment that it is exempt from such assessments; (2) an order directing that defendant remove any existing assessments against the Bank; and (3) an injunction restraining Metrocentre from making further assessments and from instituting any legal action to recover past assessments. The district court [FN1] found first, that the Bank was not exempt because the Bank was not an agency or instrumentality of the federal government for the purpose of the special assessment. Second, it held that the exemption from taxes granted the Bank by 12 U.S.C. s 531 does not relieve the Bank from paying special assessments. *Federal Reserve Bank v. They argue that because of the Bank's independence, it cannot be deemed to be an instrumentality. We disagree. The Bank is performing such an important governmental function that in spite of great independence it must still be considered to be an instrumentality of the federal government.

Appellant argues that federal reserve banks perform such functions. In spite of their independent status, they conduct important governmental functions regarding the issuance of currency, general fiscal duties of the United States, and, in general, regulate the financial structure, either directly or indirectly, of both federal and state banks.[\[FN3\]](#)

In light of the important governmental functions performed by the federal reserve banks and the United States Supreme Court's willingness to hold that financial institutions performing even fewer governmental functions are federal instrumentalities, we hold that the federal reserve banks are instrumentalities of the federal government. Our holding is consistent with other circuits that have faced this question. Federal Reserve Bank v. More important, in [12 U.S.C. s 531 <http://web2.westlaw.com/find/default.wl?tf=-1&spa=003288636-4000&rs=WLW7.04&fn=_top&sv=Split&tc=-1&findtype=L&docname=12USCAS531&db=1000546&vr=2.0&rp=%2ffind%2fdefault.wl&mt=FederalGovernment>, Congress specifically provided that federal reserve banks enjoy immunity from state and local taxation except taxes upon real estate. The statute provides:

Federal reserve banks, including the capital stock and surplus therein and the income derived therefrom, shall be exempt from Federal, State and local taxation, except taxes upon real estate.

Id.

This brings us to the second issue in the case; whether the special assessment qualifies as a real estate tax under 12 U.S.C. s 531 <http://web2.westlaw.com/find/default.wl?tf=-1&spa=003288636-4000&rs=WLW7.04&fn=_top&sv=Split&tc=-1&findtype=L&docname=12USCAS531&db=1000546&vr=2.0&rp=%2ffind%2fdefault.wl&mt=FederalGovernment>. If it does, then even though the bank is exempt as an instrumentality, Congress may have subjected the bank to the tax by specifically waiving the exemption.

=003288636-4000&docsample=False> In conclusion, we hold that the federal reserve bank is a federal instrumentality and therefore enjoys an immunity from *187 (Cite as: 657 F.2d 183, *187) state and local taxation unless waived by Congress. [FN4]

We further hold that the waiver of immunity from real estate taxes under 12 U.S.C. s 531 does not extend to special assessments.

FN4. Since congressional waiver of immunity is required, the failure of the Bank to timely contest the assessment does not affect the result. See [Department of Employment v.
